

Rockefeller Declares Himself in

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller became an active candidate for the Republican presidential nomination today, saying he had decided to fight for the office because of concern over "the gravity of the crises" that confront the American people.

Abandoning the "available" posture he had assumed only 40 days ago for a more aggressive role, the 59-year-old New York governor explained:

"I frankly find that to comment from the sidelines is not an effective way to present the alternatives—the alternatives that I believe can lead us out of our difficulties—to order and progress at home, to peace and understanding abroad."

Rockefeller, 50-year-old grandson of oil billionaire John D. Rockefeller, was reported to be prepared to abandon his "available" strategy at a late-morning news conference and commit himself to a head-to-head contest with Richard M. Nixon, the only other major candidate for the GOP nomination.

Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., reported Monday night that he had received confirmation of the candidacy. He added that Rockefeller should "speak out on Vietnam."

The associates guaranteed there would be no surprises, such as on March 21, when Rockefeller was expected to announce his candidacy but instead said only that he would accept a draft.

Rockefeller intimates said the governor was surprised that his March demurrer was taken so literally—that he really wants the nomination and now means to go after it with full vigor.

While Rockefeller aides sought to preserve an illusion of suspense in today's activities, the stage was set carefully for a formal declaration of candidacy.

Privately they conceded there could be no other reason for encouraging national political reporters and the major television networks to come to the New York capital other than to hear the governor declare his presidential candidacy.

A variety of Republican leaders were invited to the capital to lend the approval of their presence to the proceedings. Among them were U.S. Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, former U.S. Rep. William E. Miller, the GOP's 1964 vice presidential candidate, and U.S. Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania. All are former Republican national chairmen.

Poor March Demands Strong, Blunt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The demands were strong, and they were voiced in blunt and angry words to top government officials. But the poor people who brought them to Washington made it clear they still expect a summer-long confrontation with their government.

"We will be back in 10 days," promised the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, leader of the Poor People's Campaign, at every stop. "We will be back for their answer, not 130 strong but 3,000 to 5,000 strong."

"We are going to back up our words with the most militant nonviolent direct action in this country's history," he added. Abernathy repeatedly used "beautiful" Monday to describe the day, even though meetings ran hours behind schedule and the 130 advance troops never did keep appointments with some top officials—like Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Emphasis was on the poor of varied ethnic groups from all parts of the nation—Negro, Indian, Puerto Rican, and white—coming together to say, in the words of one participant, "we're going to find a way to make these people do what they should do... we're tired of living the way we been living..."

And while campaign leaders promised over and over again they would start no violence in Washington, many of the participants indicated they might not abide by the same rules back in their home towns.

"We are not coming to Washington again," New York's Manuel Ortiz, a Puerto Rican, told Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. "This is the last time. If our demands aren't met, we will stay in those ghettos and tear them down brick by brick."

Specific demands, ranging from better Justice Department enforcement of existing laws to an overhaul of the Agriculture Department's food stamp and land retirement programs were

Police Move in on Campus at Columbia

NEW YORK (AP) — Police moved in force onto the Columbia University campus at the administration's request today and routed student demonstrators from five barricaded campus buildings to end a week-long sit-in.

Starting around 2:45 a.m., police systematically removed the students—sometimes violently—in about 75 minutes. More than a hundred of the youths were injured, most suffering cuts and bruises about the head and face.

Police reported 638 persons arrested, approximately 100 of them women.

During the police sweep a crowd of nearly 2,000 persons gathered on the Ivy League campus overlooking Harlem. The bystanders clashed with police after the last of the demonstrators had been taken away.

Police used nightsticks freely in breaking up the large crowd and moving it off campus. Mounted police rode into the surging mass.

Dan Pellegrin, president of the student council, announced to a crowd near the library that he was calling a student strike starting today.

There was no immediate announcement on when classes would resume.

Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary told newsmen the university had asked police to mobilize about midnight. He said he had witnessed the eviction operation and added the police had done "an excellent job."

By 5:30 a.m. the large crowd had broken up and students stood around in small clusters discussing the night's activities. At one point many on the campus chanted: "Kirk must go, Kirk must go" referring to university President Grayson Kirk.

Earlier Kirk had offered a four-point proposal to resolve the deadlock saying he would accept a student-faculty-administration committee to act as a court of appeals for any punishment meted out to the protesters.

The sit-in by 500 to 600 demonstrators began in protest over construction of a controversial gymnasium in a nearby Harlem park and over the university's ties with the government-related Institute for Defense Analysis.

Mark Rudd, chairman of the Columbia Students for a Democratic Society and a leader of the protest, said the demonstrators remained firm in their demand for amnesty as a prerequisite to negotiations.

given in person to Freeman, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and acting antipoverty chief Bertrand M. Harding.

Angry shouts followed by bursts of applause rose from behind doors closed to newsmen. "It's beautiful," said Jackson, Miss., attorney Marian Wright. "They're getting up and telling it like it is."

Doing that meant meetings that ran hours past deadline, a situation that didn't seem to bother Abernathy.

"We have been waiting on the white man for 350 years," he told a rousing rally of some 1,000 people Monday night. "We just decided today we were going to let him wait on us."

"We are going to come here and stay until Congress does something about poverty in this country," said Abernathy. "Under Martin Luther King's leadership we were going to shake America. Under Ralph Abernathy's leadership we're going to turn it upside down."

The remark drew a thunderous standing ovation on a night punctuated often by such deafening bursts of applause, granted to speeches in which the participants painted vivid pictures of the conditions they claim exist.

"Migrant workers are stripped of every right as humans, forced to a life of hell on top of the earth they cultivate," Mr. Eastland (Mississippi Democratic Sen. James O. Eastland) said in Washington, D.C., that we were satisfied in Sunflower County (Miss.). But he made a sad mistake.

"Poor whites in the South only do what they're allowed to do. From the time we're born, we know that ain't nothing going to happen to us if we cut up niggers... we want all the middle class whites to know we're through doing your dirty work."

"I'm getting tired of being told I'm a good Indian if I keep quiet, because a quiet Indian is a sellout... I'm a young man, but I'm a tired man, too. I'm tired of being a white man's Indian."

Hershey Defends Draft System, Declares No Remodeling Is Needed

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft chief Lewis B. Hershey says President Johnson has rejected a sweeping remodeling of the Selective Service System proposed by a White House advisory commission.

Instead, Hershey told a news conference Monday, Johnson approved later recommendations by a three-member presidential task force which included Hershey and which said the draft system should be left about as is.

Hershey said of his agency's influence on the task force: "We had the best kind of representation. We were able to sell them, to tell them, to educate them, whatever you want to call it."

Of his own participation on the task force, Hershey laughed and said he felt fortunate in "sitting on a court where I was the fellow being tried."

In February 1967 the commission—appointed seven months earlier and headed by former Assistant Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall—recommended sweeping changes in both the draft structure and its operation.

The next month, in a message to Congress, Johnson endorsed operational ideas including a youngest-first reversal of the order of induction, and a return to a kind of lottery system of selection.

But he withheld endorsement of the structural proposals: To centralize the system, replacing its 4,000 local boards with 300 to 500 area boards; to replace its 56 state and territorial headquarters with 8 regional offices; and to modernize and standardize it with mechanized data processing.

Johnson instead appointed a task force of Hershey, then-Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and then Budget Director Charles L. Schultze, to review these proposals.

Congress in June renewed and revised the basic draft law—which spells out the national-state-local structure—leaving that structure intact.

By October, Hershey said Monday, the Task Force had worked out its position: "The present system should be continued... We should not push the governors out of the system; it should still operate from the states, not from regional areas."

As for mechanized data processing, Hershey said, Defense Department experts decided it would not be much use in a still-decentralized system.

Although the task force completed its report last January, and the President has seen and approved it, it was not made public until Monday.

Hershey said the only reason it was withheld was that he "didn't think it was newsworthy."

$250,000 Ransom Paid for Woman

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) — Authorities have disclosed that the wife of a rich businessman was kidnapped, held for $250,000 ransom and then returned unharmed.

The officials said a threatening note demanding ransom was left in the Lafayette, Calif., house from which Margaret Edith Louis, 61, was abducted last Tuesday afternoon.

She told officers she was treated well and not threatened before she was released in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park Friday night.

Her husband owns a chain of food markets in this area. Dist. Atty. John Nejedly said news of the kidnapping was withheld to assure Mrs. Louis' safety and to permit unhampered investigation.

Nejedly said Mrs. Louis told of a medium built man, about 45, entering the home by saying he wanted to discuss business.

The man bound, gagged and blindfolded her, she said. Then he drove her away to a place where she was kept blindfolded much of the time, but untied.

T. E. Louis, 68, returned home from work to find a two-written ransom note.

About 10:30 p.m. Friday the Louis' 35-year-old son, Ronald, went to San Francisco as instructed in the note.

He went to a pay telephone in the financial district, received a call telling him to go to a supermarket. There, he found a note directing him to leave a suitcase under an oriental statue near the Palace of the Legion of Honor on a cliff high above the Pacific.

No one ever picked up the package, whose contents were not revealed, authorities said. Meantime, about two miles away, Mrs. Louis was released in Golden Gate Park.

Davis Files for Secretary of State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former State Police Director Lynn A. Davis paid his filing fee today as a Republican candidate for secretary of state.

Davis, 34, filed at Republican state headquarters, where he told a news conference he would resign Wednesday as director of the Governor's Commission on Crime and Law Enforcement.

At the same time, Jerry K. Thomasson filed as a Republican candidate for attorney general. Thomasson was the unsuccessful GOP candidate against Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell in 1966.

Thomasson said he would resign Wednesday as administrator of the Employment Security Division.

The controversial Davis, a former FBI agent, was appointed State Police director last July by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

He was ruled ineligible to serve by the Arkansas Supreme Court last December. The court held that Davis didn't qualify for the position under a 10-year residency requirement. Davis had lived out of the state about six years.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
A P Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The television networks, as usual about this time, are having some second thoughts about their fall schedules.

ABC, for one, has decided to renege "N.Y.P.D.," the police action series shot mostly on location in New York.

The half-hour program starring Frank Converse and Robert Hooks was canceled, but later started to pick up some extra Nielsen steam when "It Takes a Thief" was placed in the Tuesday night schedules ahead of it.

The plnk slip has now been withdrawn, and the show will return to the same Tuesday night spot next September. Meanwhile, "Felony Squad," which squeaked through to a renewal for a third season will be moved to Friday night—and "Dream House," an audience participation show, will be dropped as evening entertainment although the daytime version will continue.

There may be some changes at CBS, too. Although the network originally decided to drop "He and She" after one season, its stars, Dick Benjamin and Paula Prentiss are still under option by the network, and the show may get another chance.

"Felony Squad" whose fate was in the balance for awhile, turned up with an episode Monday that seemed to have little plot but plenty of violence. The show opened with the detective hero viciously slugging his young partner to persuade the bad guys that he was unhappy and quitting the force.

From that moment on the show consisted of a series of fist fights and gun-slinging. It wound up with one heavy being shot, another run over by a train and a third beaten senseless.

"Peyton Place," on ABC is one series that will not be rerunning old episodes during the summer season, but the viewer who plans to include its Monday and Thursday night episodes in his schedule is advised to give himself two or three weeks to understand what all the suffering is about.

If one has been inattentive for a short period, it is difficult to pick up all the tangled threads. For instance, there's a nice young minister in town, and he has an alcoholic wife. Constance and Eliot Carson have acquired an infant, but it seems to be on loan. Dr. Rossi now has a young brother around and he looks like a bad 'un.

Betty Anderson, who last time this viewer looked was married to Steven Cord, is now getting engaged to Rodney Harrington—but wasn't she married to him when the series began?

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I'm not a do-gooder," said Gregory Peck with emphasis. "It embarrasses me to be classified as a humanitarian. I simply take part in the activities that I am interested in."

The actor was commenting on his receipt of the Motion Picture Academy's Jean Hersholt Award for humanitarian service. While he felt honored, he sought to escape any do-good connotation. That is an image he does not seek.

Peck had just been interviewed on the set of his new Western, "The Stalking Moon," by an Argentine correspondent who asked him: "Why do so many of your pictures have a social message?"

"I had to tell her," Peck reported afterward, "that of the 40 pictures I have made, only 'Gentleman's Agreement,' 'To Kill a Mockingbird' and possibly 'On the Beach' carried any kind of social message. The rest were Westerns, comedies, war pictures and straight adventure stories like 'The Guns of Navarone.'"

Despite his disclaimers, Peck in recent years has devoted an uncommon amount of time and energy to causes for which he feels concern.

Among them: The Motion Picture Relief Fund. He has been chairman of the drive to raise $15 million in 15 years to support the industry's ill and aged. Six million has been collected in the first two years.

The American Cancer Society. Two years ago he was chairman of the annual fund drive and spent four months touring 28 cities to raise $50 million.

The National Endowment for the Arts. Peck served a two-year term on the committee aimed at spreading culture through the nation.

The Inner City Repertory Theater. He has been a guiding force in the Los Angeles stage company which offers excellent productions to school children and adult patrons.

Dodgers in Victory Over Cards

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Los Angeles Dodgers gave Walter Alton a warm welcome. The Cincinnati Reds turned Grady Hatton's homecoming into a holocaust.
With Manager Alton in uniform for the first time this season, the Dodgers snapped St. Louis' six-game winning string Monday night by edging the National League leaders 3-2 at Los Angeles.

At Houston, meanwhile, Cincinnati went on a 22-hit rampage that crushed Houston's Astros 17-2 in their first home game in two weeks.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh whipped the Chicago Cubs 7-4 under the lights and Atlanta downed San Francisco 7-2 in an afternoon game.

In the American League, Detroit nipped Oakland 2-1, Minnesota slugged Boston 11-2 and California shaded Cleveland 3-2.

Don Sutton, making his first start for the Dodgers after being recalled from the minors, stilled the Cardinals with relief help from Jim Brewer and made Alton's homecoming a happy occasion. The 56-year-old pitcher had missed the Dodgers' first 16 games while recovering from surgery for the removal of kidney stones.

Sutton scored one run, drove in another and blanked the Cards on three hits until the seventh inning, when two singles and Curt Flood's two-run double closed the gap. Brewer protected the right-hander's first victory with 2 1/3 innings of hitless relief.

Brewer has been touched for one run in 8 2/3 innings over all. Four other Dodger relievers—Jack Billingham, John Purdin, Jim Grant and Hank Aguirre—have yet to be scored upon.

While the Cardinals' feasters were being ruffled after their six-game streak at St. Louis, the Astros returned to Houston to find their usually friendly Astrodom transformed into a chamber of horrors.

Houston played its first six games in the Dome, winning five and completing the home stand with a 1-0, 24-inning victory over the New York Mets on April 15. Then the Astros went on the road... and lost eight of nine.

The Reds wasted little time in making it nine of 10 and relegating Houston to the NL cellar. They scored in every inning but the eighth, building a 4-1 early lead before exploding for six runs in the fourth.

Tony Perez led the onslaught with his fourth homer and five runs batted in. Pete Rose stroked four hits, scored four runs and knocked in three. Vada Pinson, Lee May, Leo Cardenas and Johnny Bench had three hits apiece, including Bench's first homer.

"It was fantastic," said Houston first baseman Rusty Staub. "They just couldn't do anything wrong."

Willie Stargell's two-run single and a two-run homer by Bill Mazeroski carried the Pirates past the Cubs, ending a three-game Pittsburgh losing string. Steve Blass, making his first start, picked up the victory with relief help after Ernie Banks' seventh inning homer.

Ron Reed, Atlanta's 6-foot-6 rookie, held the Glants to three hits in his first 1968 start. The Braves tagged loser Juan Marichal for 12 hits, including a homer and three singles by Tito Francona.

Terry Crisp had helped St. Louis to its two goals in the first period with sharp assists. He fed Bob Plager for the first goal with less than two minutes gone. Then after Walt McKechnie scored to tie the game, Crisp set up Gary Sabourin.

But the Blues couldn't hold the lead and Bob McCord tied the game with 6:31 gone in the second period.

Roseboro Finds Range, Twins Win

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Johnny Roseboro found a perfect way to ruin a day off. With a little extra effort, he hit his way out of it.

The 34-year-old catcher broke out of an 0-for-29 slump by cracking five hits in five at bats Monday night, setting off Minnesota's 11-2 rout over the Boston Red Sox.

"It was just a matter of time," said his manager, Cal Ermer. "However, we planned to give him a rest Tuesday. Now we'll wait and see how he feels."

After his first five-hit game in 12 seasons in the major leagues, Roseboro should be feeling just fine.

Norm Cash probably won't play today, but he must be feeling okay, too, after scoring the winning run in a home plate collision that brought the Detroit Tigers a 2-1 victory over the Oakland A's.

Another happy hitter who became a doubtful starter today is Rick Reichardt, who limped off the field after belting a two-run single that keyed California's 3-2 triumph over Cleveland in the only other American League game.

In the only National League contests, Pittsburgh tripped the Chicago Cubs 7-4, Cincinnati lowered the boom on Houston 17-2 and Los Angeles downed St. Louis 3-2.

Roseboro, playing his first season in the American League after his acquisition from the Los Angeles Dodgers last winter, entered the Boston game with only three hits in 49 at bats for a .061 average.

By the end of the night, he had raised his average to .148 with three singles, a double and his first AL homer off four of the six Red Sox pitchers. He drove in two runs and scored three.

"I've never got off to such a bad start," Roseboro said. "When you're young, you go out of your mind. But when you're older... I remember what Jim Gilliam told us on the Dodgers. When you're not hitting, stop complaining and go out there and give 110 per cent."

Roseboro's hitting and three runs batted in by Ted Uhlaender made Jim Perry's third victory in four decisions easy, given a 9-1 lead in three innings, he breezed with a six-hitter.

Cash's big hit came against Oakland catcher Rene Lachemann with two out in the ninth inning. He had forced Bill Freehan, who had been hit by a pitch, and then reached second when reliever Jack Aker walked Jim Northrup.

When Don Wert, who homered in the eighth, singled to center field, Cash raced for home, but Rick Monday's throw had him beaten. However, Lachemann dropped the peg and Cash barreled into him and his knee struck Lachemann's head, flattening the catcher.

Lachemann was not seriously hurt, but Cash suffered a severe bruise and probably will sit out today's game.

The play made a winner of Mickey Lolich, who yielded only four hits after an eight-day layoff because of National Guard duty.

Reichardt bounced his hit up the middle in the seventh inning with the bases loaded and none out, putting the Angels ahead 2-1. The winning run scored later in the inning on a force out.

Reichardt, however, pulled a muscle running the bases and might not play today.

Rabenhurst of LSU Is Retiring

By BILL NEIKIRK

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Harry Rabenhurst, 70 today, retired after 43 years as a coach and athletic administrator at Louisiana State with a call for a strict code of ethics governing collegiate recruiting.

"Many evils can creep into recruiting because of the overenthusiasm of alumni, giving a little bit on the side and a little bit under the table," said Rabenhurst in an interview.

High-pressure recruiting resulted in the college basketball scandals a decade ago, Rabenhurst believes. "When you start compromising with what is true and right, how can you point your finger at someone who gambles?"

"I see no difference in it," added Rabenhurst.

"Coach Rable," as he is affectionately known, played a major role in athletics at LSU for more than four decades, coaching a variety of sports and maximizing his career by serving as athletic director.

The lengthy list of athletes who came under Rabenhurst's guidance reads like a page or two from a who's who of the sports world.

Friends and former players turned out at a campus banquet Monday night to honor the amiable, graying Rabenhurst.

During his years at LSU, he served as head basketball and head baseball coach, assistant football and track coach and assistant athletic director.

Rabenhurst coached Alvin Dark and Joe Adcock in baseball and basketball and each sent their congratulations to their old mentor. Dark now manages the Cleveland Indians and Adcock is a former Cleveland manager.

Bob Pettit, the 6-foot-9 retired star of the National Basketball Association, served as manager of ceremonies. The two-time All-American played under Rabenhurst at LSU.

Others coached by Rabenhurst included Steve Van Buren, Y.A. Tittle, Jimmy Taylor and Billy Cannon.

Rabenhurst came to LSU in 1925. His basketball teams won 344 games and lost 258.

Rabenhurst quit active coaching in 1957 to become assistant athletic director, later becoming head of the athletic department.

worth $2,250 and gave her a total of $7,825 in official earnings. Kathy Whitworth is second with $7,337. The No. 3 money winner, Sandra Haynie, has won $4,755.

Several Pro Cage Coaching Changes

By HERSCHEL MISSENON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Alex Hannum, who left his heart in Los Angeles and jobs in San Francisco and Philadelphia, may wind up back in San Francisco. And all because San Francisco's Bill Sharman beat him to Los Angeles.

That was the jumbled situation today as coaching confusion reigned in the National Basketball Association. Three teams were without coaches and their manhunters threatened to steal the spotlight from the Boston-Los Angeles championship play-off.

It was a lost weekend in the NBA after Hannum and Sharman, two of the league's most successful coaches, stepped down at Philadelphia and San Francisco, respectively. Hannum's plans are indefinite while Sharman signed a long-term contract to coach the Los Angeles Stars of the rival American Basketball Association.

The third opening is in Chicago, where the Bulls recently lost Coach Red Kerr to the NBA's new Phoenix expansion franchise. College Coaches Ray Meyer of DePaul and George Ireland of Chicago Loyola have turned down the job.

Adding to the confusion was an announcement in San Francisco by Franklin Mieuli, owner of the warriors, that George Lee, who was Sharman's assistant, has the inside track for the job.

"If Hannum should join us, it would be understood that George would take over in one, two or three years—whenever he's ready," Mieuli said.

Mieuli said he hoped to announce by Wednesday whether Hannum will return to the team he abandoned two years ago as a loser for two pennant-winning seasons in Philadelphia, including one NBA crown.

Sharman returns to the city where he, like Hannum, starred at the University of Southern California.

His deal with the Stars, who played this initial ABA season as the Anaheim Amigos, gives him the opportunity to purchase up to a 10 per cent interest in the club. His lawyer said his coaching contract was for more than five years and for more than the $40,000 he was paid in San Francisco.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Little Gary Player of South Africa guarantees he will have support in the gallery when the $100,000 Champions International Golf Tournament begins Thursday.

Player, his wife and their four children set up house Monday at a Champions' cottage near the par 36-35-71 Cypress Creek Course.

Only their eldest child, Jennifer, 9, remained in Johannesburg.

Player, who won all four of the major championships before he was 30, is one of the favorites in the 72-hole tournament, which will not see Arnold Palmer, Ben Hogan, Gay Brewer and Billy Casper this year.

Television Plays Big Role in New Picture

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Julie Andrews and Rock Hudson were shooting an intimate little love scene. The set was a beautiful replica of a quaint French inn, complete with rooms so small only the actors, director Blake Edwards and the camera crew could crowd inside.

Yet I could see perfectly. The explanation is an improved closed-circuit television system which Edwards, associate producer Ken Wales and a group of engineers have perfected. While the camera was turning, the television was taping away, too, and I could watch on a large monitor.

Jerry Lewis and others have used television before, but the Edwards-Wales system is different. They have worked out a way of compressing the television image into the elongated shape of a wide-screen theatrical system. So, on the monitor, the kibitzers could see the scene just as it will eventually look in theaters.

The system isn't simply for the enjoyment of the spectators, however. After the scene was over, Edwards, Hudson and Miss Andrews emerged and watched the tape re-played. They studied the result critically. Edwards said he thought there should be a close-up from a different angle.

The picture is "Darling Lili." It's a World War I romance-spy-adventure yarn, and they'll shoot location stuff in Ireland and France after the Hollywood interiors.

All the principals are enthusiastic about the new television gimmick.

"It's spoiling me," Julie Andrews said. "I don't know how I'll be able to do a film without it after this. We did one shot and nobody noticed that my dress was up in the back. We caught it on the re-play and were able to reshoot the scene at once. Without it, we wouldn't have seen it until the rushes the next day, and we would have had to do a retake at great expense."

"It's a great system," Rock Hudson said. "You have a chance to correct your mistakes right now."

"Darling Lili" has a score of eight original Henry Mancini-Johnny Mercer songs. Julie's favorite is a tune called "Whistling Away the Dark," which she predicts will be a "strong contender" for the Oscar for best song next year—or, more probably, the year after, depending on when the film is released.

Julie, incidentally, says she has become a big fan of some of the current pop music—"the elite current pop music," she explains, "particularly Simon and Garfunkel—I think they are just magnificent."

French Heart Transplant Patient Dies

By ROBERT QUIRIGONI
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — Europe's first heart transplant patient, a 66-year-old retired French truck driver, died today 5 1/2 hours after he was given the heart of a young man. The new organ functioned well, doctors said, but the patient could not overcome an insufficiency of blood to the brain.

Clovis Roblain, succumbed at 10:30 a.m., never having regained consciousness after the transplant. He had undergone a nine-hour operation Saturday night.

Dr. Maurice Mercadier, the head of the surgical team at La Pitie Hospital, hinted that Roblain may have been too old to weather the transplant.

"We have learned from this first attempt that technically a transplant is perfectly possible, but that we must have a patient sufficiently resistant to have a chance of success," the physician said.

City Negroes Build Power Politically

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The concentration of Negroes in large Northern cities is beginning to produce its own kind of Black Power—black political power.

This year Negroes won control of city governments in Cleveland, Ohio, and Gary, Ind. In November they're expected to gain at least three more seats in the U.S. House of Representatives.

That would increase the number of Negro congressmen to nine, the highest yet; higher even than the seven who served at the peak of Negro participation in Reconstruction-era government.

For years congressional district lines in most big cities were drawn to divide the black community among several predominantly white districts. But the steady flocking of Negroes to urban areas has made such draftsmanship increasingly difficult.

The three new districts expected to elect Negroes this fall

are in New York City, Cleveland and St. Louis.

Rather than run in the new districts two of the white incumbents have moved over to tackle incumbents in adjoining districts and the third one has announced his retirement.

Although having 9 members in a 435-member House would leave Negroes far short of their proportionate weight of about 11 per cent of the total population, their strength in Congress has increased steadily, if slowly, since World War II.

Until 1945 only Chicago had elected a Negro congressman in the 20th century, its South Side Negro community having had its own representatives since 1930.

In 1945 Adam Clayton Powell of New York made his flamboyant entrance on the national scene; in 1954 Detroit elected its first Negro member; in 1958, Philadelphia; in 1962, Los Angeles—and in 1964 Detroit became the first city with two Negro representatives.

In 1966 the first Negro senator since Reconstruction was elected, Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts.

Some Negro leaders expect to pick up more than three seats in November, with Los Angeles and Chicago offering the best prospects. If it doesn't happen this year, it seems certain the number will grow after the 1970 census requires another round of redistricting.

The population increase among Negroes since 1950 has been almost all in central cities of metropolitan areas. Negroes are 26 per cent of the population in cities or metropolitan areas with more than 1 million population. And the larger the city the faster the Negro population is growing.

Chest Pain Puts Ike in Hospital

By RALPH DIGHTON
Associated Press Writer

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, suffering "some chest discomfort," was flown to the March Air Force Base hospital Monday night for treatment.

"We are not calling this a heart attack," his military aide said.

The 77-year-old general played golf Monday at Palm Springs, near his winter home, but a short time later called in his personal physician. The temperature at Palm Beach reached 100 during the day.

Several hours later, two Army helicopters landed on fairway 11 in front of Eisenhower's home on the Eldorado Country Club course in Palm Desert, near Palm Springs. Twenty minutes later, Eisenhower was being carried into the hospital on a stretcher.

His aide, Brig. Gen. Robert Schulz, issued this statement later:

"Some chest discomfort was noted earlier today. The doctors all feel it best for a period of medical observation and bed rest."

A source close to Eisenhower said the former president had been "pretty busy the last couple of days, and he apparently overextended himself. The activity and the heat seemed to have tired him."

Eisenhower's wife, Mamie, stayed at their winter home. The couple has planned to leave May 6 for their farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

Although Eisenhower has been generally healthy and vigorous, he has suffered a series of illnesses since 1955.

He suffered a heart attack in 1955 while president, an attack of ileitis, an intestinal blockage, in 1956 and another heart attack in 1965. In 1957 he had a mild stroke. In 1966 his gall bladder was removed.

Lions Club Sees Film

JOHN S. DRAPER

At its regular meeting yesterday at Town & Country the Lions Club heard remarks and saw a film presented by John S. Draper, manager of the Texas Eastern Transmission Company's Bodcaw station.

For a large company, Texas Eastern is quite young. The firm was organized in 1947 to take over the famed Big and Little Inch pipelines that were built by the government at a cost of over $146 million. The Texas Eastern group paid $143 million for the lines, almost the full cost. Since the original purchase of the lines from the Gulf of Mexico to New Jersey other lines have been laid to the northeast part of the U. S. Today the company has 9,000 miles of lines. The movie showed how a line is laid through swamplands in south Louisiana.

The pumping station at Bodcaw is part of an enormous system of stations, valves, pipeline, bridges, tunnels and related structures and represents an investment of $3½ million in this area alone.

Program Chairman Bill Gunter introduced Mrs. Draper. Bob McCoolle of Sears was the guest of Jim Argo.

ARMY PAYS from Page One

Worcester, Mass., and General Motors' Hydramatic Division at Ypsilanti, Mich.

Each firm received a two-year contract calling for production of 60,000 rifles the first year and 180,000 the second.

Harrington & Richardson will receive $15 million the first year for a unit cost to the government of $250 a rifle. The second year the firm will receive $27 million or $150 a rifle.

Government costs under the contract awarded to General Motors are higher: $316 a rifle the first year, $200 the second.

The difference between the two contracts brought swift challenge from Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., who told the Senate the awards serve "as a painful question of the Pentagon's ability to handle the taxpayers' money wisely."

The Army responded by pointing to differences in wage scales between Detroit and Worcester. Labor Department figures show the average manufacturing employee in Detroit in February 1968 received $167.74 a week. The figure for Worcester was $118.89.

GM and Harrington & Richardson were among four firms with which the Army negotiated after it bought the manufacturing rights for $4.5 million from Colt. The prices include the expenses of tooling up to produce a new product.

an all-day event for Conifer Council Cadettes entitled "The U in Popularity." About 200 Cadettes attended the function, where Miss Vonda Kay Brown, Arkansas State Forestry Queen, told the girls how to develop an attractive personality. Mrs. Floyd Taylor of Texarkana had a personality clinic, telling the girls what exercises to take, how to sit, stand, and walk, what to eat, etc.

After lunch in the college cafeteria, the cadettes were taken on a walking tour of the campus. During the afternoon session, Miss Betty Ruth Honeycutt represented the local unit in the "Miss Model Cadette Contest." One of the most enjoyable events was the Panel Discussion presented by 7 college boys entitled "What Boys Like About Girls." The boys were most informative and candid, and the girls learned a lot. The day's activities were concluded by attending a session of a rock-and-roll group, "The Arrangements," in the college gymnasium.

Mrs. Howard Jackson, leader, and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Honeycutt chaperoned the event.

Boswell Files for Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ted Boswell, a Little Rock lawyer, formally filed today as a Democratic candidate for governor.

Boswell announced Monday that he would seek the office, running as a reform candidate.

He is the fourth Democrat to file. Others in the race include Little Rock insurance executive Frank Whitbeck, Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman and former Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett.

Newsbriefs

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Mrs. Elmer Kimble says the secret of staying married 75 years is "when you get mad, just get up and walk out."

The Kimbles celebrate their 75th wedding anniversary Wednesday in a nursing home in Portland.

Kimble will be 101 years old May 15. Mrs. Kimble is 92.

YATES CENTER, Kan. (AP) — Thieves got away with $650 from a safe at the Cantrell Motor Co., although tear gas bombs, placed in the safe for protection against robbers, exploded properly.

Another break was reported the same morning at the National Guard armory four blocks away.

Two gas masks were taken there.

CORONA, Calif. (AP) — A fire in Temescal Canyon spread so close to a nudist camp that many of the 200 sun bathers fled its path.

Several male nudists took up stations beside the fire-fighting crews numbering 300 or more.

"Some of those guys were helping fight the fire in their shoes, and nothing else," a spokesman for the state Division of Forestry said.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona's decision to remain on standard time this summer has caused one major addition to the format of a Phoenix television news broadcast — the soap opera report.

Officials at KTAR-TV say the switch to daylight time in most of the nation led to a juggling of schedules, eliminating the NBC serial "Days of our Lives" from the station's lineup.

To provide some relief for the loyal fans who called to protest, the station expanded its evening news to include a report of the day's events on "Days of our Lives."

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Helen Caspan, a typist for the city hired last October with a warning to lose weight, has been fired after gaining 14 pounds for a total of 230.

The 33-year-old woman, 5-foot-10, said she tried pills and dieting but became so nervous from the pills and so hungry from the diets that she ate more than before and gained weight.

The city said her health was in jeopardy, making her too much of a risk for the city's health plan insurance to cover.

for governor in Arkansas.

The Johnsons, flanked by a small group of supporters, came to the Capitol with two cardboard boxes filled with petitions to place former Alabama Gov. George Wallace on the ballot as a third party presidential candidate.

The Johnsons completed the Wallace filing first and then Jim went to the Democratic party officials to file his party loyalty pledge and as a candidate for the Senate.

After Johnson completed his filing, he received an emergency telephone call in the secretary of state's office. It was only moments later that Virginia filed for governor, bringing another round of shouts from their supporters. It was not disclosed what the emergency call was about.

The Johnsons declined to hold a news conference, saying they had to hurry somewhere else.

Johnson is 44 and his wife is 40.

Johnson won the Democratic nomination for governor in 1966 but then lost to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller in the general election. He has previously served on the Arkansas Supreme Court and in the state Senate.

Mrs. Johnson will be no new-comer to politics since she campaigned extensively for her husband in 1966, making appearances at various rallies as well as television.

Johnson is a self-avowed segregationist who has spent the last two months pushing the campaign in Arkansas to get Wallace on the ballot.

J. P. "Sonny" Lybrand, executive secretary of the Democratic party, said there was nothing in the party rules to prohibit the Johnsons from filing as Democrats.

There had been some speculation that since they were pushing a third-party effort that any attempt at filing as Democrats would be blocked.

However, Arkansas Democratic party rules only require Democrats to pledge support of party candidates within the state.

The maneuver came as a surprise to almost everyone despite the fact that Johnson hinted last summer that running for governor might not be such a bad idea.

Sources close to Johnson told The Associated Press Monday that he definitely wanted to run against Fulbright but that his staunch supporters were demanding that he get someone in the race for governor.

McMath said he was grateful to the many persons who had been interested in his running for the senate.

"However, I will not be a candidate for any political office," he said in a statement.

He said that during the past year he had made talks on the dangers of communism to the United States and the free world and had supported the U.S. effort in Vietnam and Southeast Asia because this nation has a vital interest at stake.

"I have stated that I have no desire to re-enter politics or to run for the U.S. Senate," he said, "I have spoken out as a concerned citizen and shall continue to do so."

No Cigarettes to Minors

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The attorney general's office said Monday that cigarettes can not legally be sold to a person under 18 years of age.

Morris Rickel, principal of the state School for the Deaf, asked for the opinion. He said the institution had permitted students to smoke at the age of 16 with the consent of the parents or guardians.

Rickel said the school administrators would probably revise the rule to comply with the law.

The Hope girls' basketball team left for Six Flags at noon last Friday from the high school. The trip for the girls and their sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gibson, was financed by town people. Sheriff Jimmie Griffin was in charge of collecting the money and got $325.

Contributors were: Ray Turner, $25; Citizens Bank, $25; Anderson-Frazier Insurance, $25; First National Bank $25; Hope Auto $25; Jimmie Griffin $25; KXAR $25; Kiwanis Club $50; Lions Club $100.

The team and Coach Gibson thank everyone who contributed to make this trip possible. They plan to spend Friday and Saturday nights and return to Hope Sunday afternoon.

$3.5 Million Wanted for Ouachita Basin

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Public Works Appropriations Committee was asked Monday to approve $3.5 million more than had been budgeted for Ouachita River Basin projects in Arkansas and Louisiana.

The request was made by a delegation from the two states. The delegation asked for $22.4 million for the projects.

"We know... there are many other domestic calls that must be made upon the U.S. Treasury," said H. K. Thatcher of Camden, Ark., spokesman for the group. "We grasp, however, at some of the fantastic social-uplift and untried, politically inspired job opportunity schemes that present themselves demanding money."

"By contrast, our projects which are under construction or are completed and in operation requiring maintenance, will provide hundreds of good jobs in low income areas where employment is urgently needed," Thatcher said.

$4 Million Short on Tax Collections

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Legislative Council was told Monday that projected collections for fiscal 1967-68 would be more than $4 million short of the original forecast.

Clarence "Mike" Frost, consultant to the state Administration Department, told the council that a revised forecast show the collections would be $181.5 million. It had been projected that the collections for the current fiscal year would reach $185.9 million.

Frost also said that the predicted $201.1 million collections in fiscal 1968-69 were now projected at only $196.9 million.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller is scheduled to appear before the school today to explain his plans for getting the state out of a financial dilemma.

Told Project May Aggravate Flood Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — John B. Moore Jr. of Clarendon, Ark., told a House Public Works Appropriations Subcommittee that the Cache River flood control project in Arkansas would aggravate flood problems in the workers began sowing in Maryland shortly after the President's exit from the contest sprouted in a pro-Humphrey delegation Monday, bound by the unit rule in casting its 49 votes at the Chicago party convention.

The subcommittee is considering funds for water projects to be included in a public works appropriations bill. President Johnson budgeted $100,000 to the Cache River project.

The project would involve two drainage ditches in northern Arkansas to funnel flood water from the Cache River into the White River near Clarendon.

Liquor Sales to Minors Illegal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Supreme Court ruled Monday that it is not legal to sell liquor to a minor if the person who sells the liquor does not know the buyer is a minor.

The Supreme Court said, therefore, that a move by Circuit Judge Andrew Ponder of Newport to dismiss charges against Eugene and Noble Jarvis was an error.

Ponder had held that there was no such crime as "selling to minors."

Both men had been found guilty in Newport Municipal Court on two separate charges of selling or giving intoxicants to minors. Each was fined $150 and costs.

Ponder's ruling was appealed by Prosecutor David Hodges of Newport. Hodges said that later legislation dealing with selling liquor to minors did not repeal an 1879 statute that pertains to criminal offenses in connection with children.

Humphrey Is Discouraging Delegation

By JACK BELL
 AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice president Hubert H. Humphrey, too late a Democratic presidential contender to get on California's June 4 primary ballot, is moving to insure no proxy slate carries his name to possible defeat.

Humphrey is discouraging any move by an uncommitted delegation—first organized to back President Johnson—to pledge itself to the vice president in the Golden State runoff. State Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch has said in Los Angeles that the onetime pro-Johnson slate will meet soon to caucus on its presidential preference.

While more than three-fourths of the individuals on the Lynch slate are reported to favor Humphrey, the vice president and his strategists are struggling to avoid any public endorsement of him.

Their reasoning is that the slate wouldn't stand an equal chance of winning the state's 174 delegates, with the names of Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., on the ballot and Humphrey's absent.

Because his formal entry into the race last Saturday was delayed until it was too late to get his name on any ballot, Humphrey plans whenever possible to avoid appearances in primary states until after the voting is over.

While he is conceding the presidential primary states on the first ballot to his rivals, Humphrey is already moving in on states that choose delegates in conventions and in district elections.

Humphrey assesses his chances of picking off some of New York's 190 votes at a luncheon today with supporters and contributors in New York City. He has delegate candidates running in most of the state's congressional districts but expects Kennedy supporters to control the delegation.

The vice president will talk with Philadelphia area delegates on a visit there Thursday. His backers voiced confidence he can get a majority of Pennsylvania's 130 convention votes. The seeds the vice president's

Are Census Records Really Confidential? 1961 Supreme Court Decision Said 'No'

As I write this Americans are putting down on paper the confidential facts about their private business for the benefit of the 1967 Census of Manufactures, a report due every five years.

Is it confidential, as the Census Bureau claims, or does this report merely convict the government of what it is constantly charging private business with — misrepresentation, deceit, and untruth?

The current Census of Manufacture form, MC-27A (Rev.), declares at the top of Page One:

"NOTICE— Response to this inquiry is required by law (Title 13 U. S. Code). By the same law, your report to the Census Bureau is confidential. It may be seen only by sworn Census employees and may be used only for statistical purposes. The law also provides that copies retained in your files are immune from legal process."

But a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States Dec. 11, 1961, destroyed the protection formerly given Census Bureau reports. The Federal Trade Commission, supported by the Antitrust Division of the Justice Department, had asked for Census Bureau reports and had been refused. The federal agencies then went into court.

In its Dec. 11, 1961 decision the supreme court held that while the actual reports in the files of the Census Bureau were protected this immunity did not extend to the copies remaining in the files of private companies— and these copies could be demanded by government agents.

I attacked that decision in two speeches, Dec. 13, 1961, at Texarkana, Ark.-Tex. and Feb. 16, 1962, at Shreveport, La., both of which were reported by the wire services.

The Census of Manufactures form mailed out for the year 1962, in 1963, repeated the usual guarantee of secrecy, and some time after that I had a researcher check Washington for any reversal of the supreme court decision of Dec. 11, 1961, and was told the decision remained standing.

Now the 1967 Census of Manufactures form not only repeats the pledge of secrecy as to the original reports filed with the Census Bureau but declares that this secrecy also covers the copies in private files.

This is in direct contradiction to the supreme court ruling of Dec. 11, 1961— and someone in Washington ought to stand up and tell us either the supreme court has reversed itself or the Census Bureau is guilty of misrepresentation, deceit, and untruth.

Dr. Lawrence Announces Retirement

Dr. L. T. Lawrence, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Hope, has announced his retirement from the active ministry. He said today however that he planned to continue to make Hope his home.

Dr. Lawrence was installed as pastor of the Hope church in February 1951, coming here from the First Presbyterian Church of Osceola. Prior to his thirteen years at Osceola Dr. Lawrence had been a missionary to the Navajo Indians in New Mexico, had been pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Cookeville, the Main Street Presbyterian Church of McMinnville, and the First Presbyterian Church of Lebanon, all in Tennessee.

Coming in the midst of maturing plans for a new manse and church building, Dr. Lawrence led the local congregation into an extensive building program. The new church plant and Sunday school building, and chapel, were constructed in the 700 block on South Main Street. The entire debt was retired in less than ten years, and the church property is now free of indebtedness.

James H. Pilkinton, clerk of the church, had this to say today on behalf of the membership about Dr. Lawrence: "He is one of the best men I have ever known, and is thoroughly dedicated to serving others in Christ's name. We hate to lose him as an active pastor, but are delighted to know that Dr. & Mrs. Lawrence have decided to stay in Hope. Every member of our congregation wishes him joy and happiness in his retirement, which he so richly deserves."

Dr. Lawrence will preach his farewell sermon on next Sunday morning, May 5, at the 11:00 o'clock hour. All of his friends throughout this area, and regardless of denomination, are invited to worship with him on this occasion. The Session of the church will have a part in the program.

Army Pays High Price for M16 Rifles for the South Vietnamese

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army, suddenly under high-level pressure to increase sharply the flow of M16 rifles to South Vietnamese troops, is paying premium prices for the lightweight, rapid-firing weapon.

Until April 12, Colt Industries Inc., was the only manufacturer of M16s. Colt's price has averaged $104 a rifle on recent contracts.

It is costing the Army far more than that—up to $316 per rifle—to bring two more firms into production of M16s.

"We are paying a premium to get the quantity and quality we want," an Army source said.

Father of a Teen-age Daughter Sorry for Future Son-in-Law

The pressure to speed procurement of M16s resulted from the decision, announced March 31 by President Johnson, to turn over more of the fighting to the South Vietnamese.

Before that decision, few South Vietnamese units had M16s despite Defense Department studies that called the rifle the best "all around shoulder weapon in Vietnam," and despite repeated requests from American field commanders that the guns be supplied to the Vietnamese.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jim Johnson filed as a Democrat for the U.S. Senate and his wife Virginia as a Democratic candidate for governor today in one of the most dramatic political moves in Arkansas history.

The Johnsons' twin bombshell overshadowed an announcement only moments earlier by former Gov. Sid McMath that he did not plan to run for the Senate or any other office, ending speculation that the Vietnam hawk would take on Sen. J. William Fulbright.

Johnson's entry gives Fulbright three primary foes — Johnson, Bobby K. Hayes of Calico Rock and Foster Johnson of Little Rock.

Officials Confident of Agreement on Site for Peace Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials voice confidence that agreement will be reached with North Vietnam on where to talk peace but Hanoi says Washington dreamed up a story about preliminary contacts in Laos.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said Monday there were two diplomatic exchanges in three days last weekend between U.S. and North Vietnamese representatives in Vientiane, Laos, adding no agreement was reached on a peace-talk site.

But the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry said the United States "cooked up the story about 'private discussions' being continued in Vientiane" and renewed its charge that Johnson administration is delaying preliminary contacts with "artful maneuvers."

Hanoi's official Vietnam News Agency, in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo, said the story about Vientiane talks came about Assistant Secretary of State William P. Bundy and was fabricated "to soothe strong public obloquy against the obduracy of the U.S. government."

But despite that reaction from the Communist capital, diplomatic sources said they are encouraged by what they called the quickening pace of exchanges in Vientiane between U.S. Ambassador William Sullivan and North Vietnam's

Says Enemy Executed 1000 at Hue

By HARRY KRAMER

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces executed more than 1,000 persons during the February offensive in Hue, the U.S. Embassy reported today.

The embassy made its atrocity charge as the U.S. Command reported hard fighting around Hue, the former imperial capital, and U.S. B52 bombers extended their raids into Laos to protect American troops sweeping the A Shau Valley gateway to the northern city.

The embassy said its report was based on information from allied sources and the South Vietnamese national police. It said the victims were found in 19 separate mass graves.

"Many had been shot, some beheaded," the report said. "A number of bodies showed signs of mutilation. Most were found with hands bound behind their backs."

"Evidence also was discovered of victims having been clubbed unconscious prior to being buried alive."

"Victims included Father Urbain, 52, and Father Guy, 48, French priests from the nearby Benedictine mission at Thien An," the report said. "Father Urbain was bound hand and foot and buried alive with 10 others. Father Guy was forced to kneel and shot through the head."

One Buddhist monk told investigators there had been nightly executions during the Communist occupation of the city, which U.S. and South Vietnamese forces retook after weeks of hard fighting.

Across South Vietnam from Hue, America's biggest bombers attacked North Vietnamese troop concentrations in Laos Monday and today, military sources said.

Their aim was to scatter sizable enemy forces reported just across the border from the A Shau Valley, the major North Vietnamese staging base in the northern part of South Vietnam where allied intelligence officers believe the enemy has been readying a new attack on Hue and other cities in the northern provinces.

Thousands of U.S. air cavalrymen have set up fire support stations in the 25-mile-long valley and are sweeping through it, destroying enemy bases and communications.

The U.S. Command would not comment on the reported B52 raids on Laos, its customary policy toward U.S. operations in that supposedly neutral country. But U.S. communiques reported only three B52 raids against enemy positions in South Vietnam Monday and today, a sharp reduction from the average of 10 a day the bombers had been flying previously.

The allied expectations of new attacks on Hue were heightened by three sharp actions Monday in which U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese infantrymen smashed three enemy forces menacing the old imperial city as well as a vital allied supply line in the northern provinces.

REDS AIM SOLID LEFT AT DE GAULLE

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent

PARIS—(NEA)—Not since the Popular Front of the 1930s have French Communists felt as cocky as they do today.

The reason is that after 30 years of bickering, the parties of the Left, including the Communists, have agreed to sink their differences in order to wage all-out war against President de Gaulle.

Specifically, the Federation of the Left, which comprises French Socialists, Radicals and various splinter groups, has agreed to a "minimum common platform" with the Communists. This platform contains such obvious sops to the Reds as the demand for full French recognition of North Vietnam, and the East German regime.

The Communists, in turn, have agreed not to press for the dismantling of the European Common Market.

Architect of this electoral pact is Francois Mitterand, 52-year-old leader of the Federation of the Left. He hopes one day to be elected president of France and polled 44.8 per cent of the vote when he ran against De Gaulle in 1965.

Mitterand, the son of a railway worker, and active in the French Resistance during the war, could not get elected without Communist support, as things stand at the moment. Once elected, however, he might easily find himself a captive of the Reds.

The problem is not an immediate one, as the next presidential election is not until 1972. But De Gaulle is 77 years old, and there is always the possibility of him dying or becoming incapacitated—what the French refer to discreetly as the "biological solution."

Meanwhile, the French Communist party is sitting pretty for any eventuality. In the past two years it has managed to acquire a veneer of respectability. Its militants no longer frighten the French electorate.

Rene Andrieu, editor of the French Communist organ "Humanite," wore the dark blue suit and gleaming white shirt of a prosperous businessman when I interviewed him recently in his editorial office. The walls were bare of any photos of Lenin or Stalin.

"The Communists gained a million votes in the parliamentary elections in March, 1967," Andrieu told me. "Most of these were young people between 25 and 35 years of age."

The Reds also made sweeping gains in the elections to municipal councils, ousting Gaullists in many cases, Andrieu claims.

In the old days the French Communist party was dominated by the personality of its leader, the late Maurice Thorez, a staunch Stalinist. But the personality cult is now dead, the Communist editor assured me, and as proof he quoted Clemenceau: "The cemeteries are full of men who were once thought to be indispensable."

Whether the personality cult is dead or not, democratic me. "Politically, it is an American protectorate, directed against the Socialist countries."

"However, we are realists," the Communist editor concluded. "We recognize that the Common Market is a reality; therefore, in the interests of unity, we are not demanding that it be suppressed."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Punishing the Past

Suppose you discover that, in your community, there is no law against smashing street lights. And trophe Committee of the capital stock insurance industry.

suppose you go out and smash a dozen or two. And suppose that the city fathers, in sudden alarm, pass a law forbidding such behavior.

Could you then be punished, under the new law, for the lights you have already smashed?

No—not even if you knew all along that you were doing something wrong. Punishment-by-hindsight is forbidden in Article One of the Constitution, which says that "no ex post facto law shall be passed." No act, legal when committed, may be made punishable afterward by pinning a criminal label on it.

This applies not only to creating new crimes but also to increasing the penalty on existing crimes. For example:

A state legislature decreed that convicted murderers, while awaiting execution, should be kept in solitary confinement. But a court ruled that the extra 'penalty, the solitary confinement, could not be imposed upon any murderer whose crime had already been committed.

On the other hand, a law easing the punishment may constitutionally apply to the past. Thus, lawmakers could reduce the death penalty to life imprisonment, and apply the change to murders committed while the death penalty was still on the books.

Moreover, the ex post facto rule applies to criminal penalties only. It does not protect you from assorted unpleasant consequences, other than criminal penalties, that may be based on your past misconduct.

In one case, an ex-convict who had served 10 years in jail wanted to practice medicine. But, according to a state law, no one who had been convicted of a felony could do so.

"This law is unconstitutional," the man charged in a court test. "True, I committed a felony. But I have already served my sentence for that. To prevent me now from practicing medicine would be to add an extra punishment, and that is ex post facto."

However, the court upheld the law, saying the legislature was not imposing a punishment but merely setting standards for the practice of medicine. The judge said:

"The physician is one whose relations to life and health are most intimate. Character is as important a qualification as knowledge. If a state may require good character as a condition of the practice of medicine, it may rightfully determine what shall be the evidences of that character."

FRANCOIS MITTERAND
Can't reach the top without the help of the Reds.

leaders like Mitterand who deal with the Communists are being urged to heed another adage: "He who sups with the devil should bring a long spoon."

At Mitterand's headquarters I talked with Charles Hernu, secretary of the Federation of the Left, who has masterminded its electoral strategy.

As a result of Communist and non-Communist co-operation in the parliamentary elections a year ago, the united Left won 49 per cent of the vote, according to Hernu. In contrast, the Gaullists polled 39 per cent of the vote to retain a water-thin majority in the National Assembly.

Hernu revealed that the 116 Leftist deputies in the National Assembly have now organized their own "Shadow Cabinet," such as the British parties do when they are in opposition. The "Shadow Cabinet" meets once a week when the National Assembly is in session, and determines what stand the Left opposition will take on such issues as the government's nuclear power program, the use of gold as a reserve currency.

Hernu admits that France's proportional voting system, with two ballots, tends to polarize opinion into leftwing and rightwing camps, but he sees nothing dangerous in the wiping out of the center or moderate parties.

If the Federation of the Left should get a majority in the National Assembly it would seek to repeal Article 16 of the Constitution which allows the president to rule without parliament in a national emergency. It would also seek to curtail the president's term of office from the present seven years to four years.

The one issue on which the Communists and their non-Communist allies of the Left are likely to fall out is the European Common Market. Mitterand, for example, is an ardent "European," and his Federation attaches prime importance to building a Europe that is united politically.

The Communists, on the other hand, are violently opposed to such a conception. "Economically, we regard the Common Market as an alliance of trusts," Andrieu told

HELEN HELP US!

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us, this newspaper.

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES

Dear Helen: I am a nine-year-old that doesn't watch TV a lot.

I think commercials are great. They tell you what's new. But it's those ones that play over and over again that I hate. I can even memorize some of them.

I think this is a little dumb, don't you?—DISTURBED

Dear Dis: I certainly do, honey! Seems to me if the sponsor can afford a new program each week, he could also shell out for a different ad. But then advertising people have a funny old idea that if you hit 'em long enough with the same words and pictures, the name will get fixed in their minds and they'll buy the product.

Believe me, it doesn't work that way where I'm concerned. If a commercial bores me, I make a mental note not to buy.

PERSONAL TO "GETTING PICKED ON"—Lord Bowen wrote a poem especially for you: "The rain it raineth on the just—And also on the unjust fella;—But chiefly on the just, because—The unjust steals the just's umbrella."

Grab back that "umbrella" and thump the "unjust fella" down to size. In other words, if you're in the right—fight to prove it!—H.

HOPE (ARK) STAR. Printed by Offset

Dear Helen: I am a Junior in high school and have a weird problem. Being a red blooded American boy I have a favorite hobby: Girl watching. Another hobby is flying and, since I like danger, I break and train horses, and ask girls out on short notice.

But here is my hang-up: A girl in my history class is lovely, stacked, and nice, but I freeze every time I start to talk with her.

Since I met her I have given up the idea of a long bachelorhood, and it is driving me crazy. How do I thaw the freeze?—SUDDENLY SHY GUY

Dear Shy: Try a warm-up by way of the telephone. Good 'ol Mother Bell has helped thaw many a frozen tongue. You'll find you can say it to the horn much easier than you can say it to her face.—H.

Dear Helen: I have two of the greatest parents in the world, but like most 13-year-old boys, I sometimes get mad at them for silly reasons. Most of the time I am a well-behaved young man. My problem is this:

Whenever I yell at my parents, my mother is quick to tell my grandmother every detail. However, when I am good, she never mentions it.

When my grandmother finds out, she deprives me of what I want, such as an expensive present which they usually buy for me. They tell me I can have anything I want if I'm good. But Helen, if I was any better, I'd be an angel and what boy wants to be an angel? What do you think?—13

Dear 13: I'd call this second-hand bribery, and suggest that your parents don't let THEIR parents take over your punishment—or your "payment"—for being good.

On the other hand, I'd better keep my big mouth shut. Judging from your first paragraph, the system seems to work pretty well.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star.
